WORKSHOP

Creating patterns for clothing production is a skilled practice. The detail and technique behind each pattern ensures that garments are made to specification with the minimal margin of error. Once you have designed your clothing the sketches will need to be turned into technical drawing before patterns are to be created. For many aspiring designers who have shown the interest to learn flat pattern technique. Ms Renjani, Asst.Prof, National Institute of Fashion Technology was invited to conduct a workshop on "Flat Pattern Design". She taught the students how to obtain new designs by simply repositioning the darts or by altering them into various forms. She also highlighted on method of flat pattern techniques. It was a very informative session.

Alumni Talk...

I extend my warm regards to my department which has immensely helped me succeed in my career. Having completed my degree in Fashion and Apparel Design in the year 2016, currently I am having a career in Kannada film industry. VET's strong belief in holistic approach towards education helped me in preparing myself for the career I was looking forward. The wide range of activities both curricular and co-curricular and the support from the college was very helpful to build up my career.

Deepthi Kapse, an alumni of the department, is an Indian actress who worked in popular movies like Hani Hani ibbani, Jwalantham etc. She made her debut in the year 2017 with the movie Jwalantham. She expresses her gratitude towards the institution for all the support and guidance she received.
