inhouse function fully coordinated and organised by the III semester M.Com students who introduced the new students to the VET family, rules, norms, regulations, faculties, infrastructure facilities, support facilities, Bangalore University formalities and many more information. The students also got familiar with their new co-students with whom they are embarking on a new journey of overall personality development for the next 2 years at VET PG Centre. It was indeed a day to erase all the fears and inhibitions.

AKRAYA SAMANTRANNA-2018

The paper presentation event was organized for M. Com students under the banner of Vanijya Dhara, A PG commerce forum. This forum was introduced by the first batch of M. Com students in 2014. It is an annual feature at VET from the past 4 years. Due to second cycle of NAAC accreditation, it was arranged in a smaller scale as inter class event. 18 teams comprising of 3 students each participated and presented their papers in various topics that have current relevance like benefits of e-commerce and m-commerce, effect of GST on general public, techniques of managing risks in business and many more. The teams were evaluated on the criteria like communication, content, presentation skill and coordination among team members.

This is a platform for the students to showcase their presentation skills, makes them industry ready and made them abreast of the prevailing trends in commerce and management. It also helped in honing their presentation and communication skills. These activities make them a good team player, help them to establish good rapport with team members and also promote leadership skills. It also inculcates learning and research culture among the students. To sum up, it leads to overall personality development of students and makes them cent percent ready to face the challenges of the external environment very effectively. The Management and Principal congratulated the Coordinator and Faculty in continuing with the tradition of paper presentation.
